Section VII. Technical Specifications/ Terms of Reference

TERMS OF REFERENCES	Bidder's Compliance
I. RATIONALE In section 5 (m) of Republic Act No. 11285 or the Energy Efficiency and Conservation (EEC) Act, the DOE is mandated to develop and undertake a national awareness and advocacy campaign on EEC. Pursuant to the Section 3 of the EEC Act established a framework for introducing and institutionalizing fundamental policies on energy efficiency and conservation, including the promotion of efficient and judicious utilization of energy, increase in the utilization of energy efficiency and renewable energy technologies, and the delineation of responsibilities among various government agencies and private entities. The Energy Utilization Management Bureau (EUMB) is mandated to develop policies, implement plans and programs related to EEC, and ensure effective implementation thereof in the government, industrial, commercial, residential and transport sectors, electric power industry participants, among others. Moreover, Republic Act No. 11697 or the Electric Vehicle Industry Development Act (EVIDA) is a response to escalating challenges of rising fuel costs and the country's dependence on diminishing fossil fuel resources through the use of energy efficient electric vehicles (EV). EVIDA also provides for a regulatory framework for EVs in the Philippines. It covers diverse facets, including the manufacturing, assembly, importation, construction, installation, maintenance, trade, utilization, research, and regulation of EVs. EVIDA's principal goals are manifold: enhancing the nation's energy security, fostering clean and sustainable energy, and facilitating the shift to innovative technologies. It aims to diminish the reliance on imported fuel, especially in the transport sector, while advocating for both public and private adoption of low emission and alternative energy technologies. Additionally, it endeavors to safeguard public health from pollution, ensure the stability of the electric power grid, and promote inclusive industrialization. EVIDA also directed the issuance of the Comprehensive Roadmap for the EV Industry (CREVI). CREVI delineates a national development strategy to expedite the EV industry's growth in the Philippines. This includes formulating standards for EVs and charging stations, industry promotion, and bolstering local manufacturing capabilities. It also concentrates on research, development, and human resource development, which are crucial for the industry's prosperity.

EVIDA extends various incentives to bolster the EV industry and its stakeholders. These incentives span non-fiscal benefits like priority registration and exemptions from certain government programs, and fiscal incentives including tax exemptions and reductions in vehicle-related fees. The law also envisions creating more job opportunities, reducing reliance on imported fuel, and establishing dedicated EV charging stations and parking spaces, thereby nurturing a more sustainable environment, and facilitating economical vehicle upgrades.

Given the predominance of digital and social media in contemporary communication, there is a pressing need to promote EEC Act and EVIDA. Effective dissemination of information and promotion of energy-efficient technologies using EVs are crucial for maximizing its impact and benefits. This promotion strategy is essential not just for awareness but also for ensuring the successful implementation and widespread adoption of EV technologies in the Philippines.

Promoting the EEC Act and the EVIDA in the Philippines using digital online ads is essential for several reasons:

- Wider Reach: Digital ads can reach a broader audience across various demographics and regions, essential in a country like the Philippines with a high internet usage rate.
- Targeted Communication: Online platforms allow for targeted messaging, ensuring that information about the EEC Act and EVIDA reaches those most likely to benefit from it, such as vehicle owners, manufacturers, and environmental advocates.
- Engagement and Education: Digital ads provide interactive and engaging ways to educate the public about the benefits of EVs, including environmental protection, energy efficiency, and cost savings.
- Immediate Feedback: Online platforms offer real-time feedback mechanisms, allowing for the measurement of campaign effectiveness and the opportunity to adjust strategies as needed.
- Cost-Effective: Compared to traditional media, digital advertising can be more cost-effective, allowing for a wider reach with a lower budget.
- Supporting Technological Transition: Since the EEC Act and EVIDA itself promotes technological advancement in transportation, using a modern communication approach aligns with its spirit of innovation and progress.

By leveraging digital online ads, the Philippines can effectively promote the EEC Act and EVIDA, encouraging a swift and widespread transition to EVs and contributing to environmental sustainability and energy independence.
